

Anti-Aging Peptide MegaMUD™

OVERVIEW

Our advanced Anti-Aging MUD treatment combines nutrient-rich clays and botanicals to remove dirt and skin debris to reveal visibly smoother, silkier skin. Absorbent, gently exfoliating, and restoring, this mask works with all skin types.

BENEFITS

- Bentonite clay is a type of volcanic ash that detoxifies the skin and reduces oiliness. This mineral rich clay is anti-inflammatory and helps promote a healthier pore environment by absorbing excess oil and sebum.
- Kaolin clay is a gentle, toning cleanser that is suitable for all skin types. It gently exfoliates while nourishing the skin with trace minerals. It is rich with the mineral kaolinite which helps absorb impurities while maintaining skin hydration.
- Hyaluronic acid is a natural substance produced by our bodies, mostly found in the skin, connective tissues, and eyes. With the ability to absorb up to 1000 times its weight in water, its primary function is to bind to water to keep those areas of your body moisturized and lubricated.
- Matrixyl® 3000 is an anti-aging peptide comprised of two types of proteins. It works by mimicking a process in our skin that signals the cells to produce more collagen. When topically applied these synthetic peptides stimulate collagen production and wound repair. Because of this it can soften and reduce the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles, and improve overall firmness and texture of the skin.
- Argireline® is a peptide that has been proven effective in reducing the appearance of wrinkles and fine lines. Once absorbed into the skin, Argireline® works on the neurotransmitters to safely inhibit muscle movements. Facial contractions are less forceful and thus wrinkles and fine lines are reduced. It is a substrate of Botulinum Toxic, or Botox.
- Marigold, or calendula extract or oil, is often used in products aimed to soothe and heal the skin. It has been shown to be effective in improving wound repair and in calming irritated skin. It has anti-fungal and anti-inflammatory properties and also protects against photoaging.
- Argan oil, pressed from the kernel of the argan tree in Morocco and admirably referred to as "liquid gold", is a luxuriously moisturizing and hydrating ingredient. This oil is full of inflammation fighting vitamin E and omega fatty acids that work to soften dry patches, lightly hydrate, and reduce the appearance of acne.
